IMPORTANT – PLEASE READ:

All current IC&RC examinations are given via computer-based testing. Exams are scheduled upon request, in any month, according to space available at the testing sites. Each test site determines their own schedule and capacity for IC&RC exams. Paper exams are no longer available. IC&RC exams are given at IC&RC-contracted testing centers. You need to allow at least 6 weeks advance time to apply, and secure a test appointment. The earlier you register for your exam, the more scheduling choices you will have.

DISABILITY/RELIGIOUS RELATED NEEDS

Individuals with disabilities and/or religious obligations that require modifications in test administration, may request specific procedure changes, in writing at least 60 days prior to the requested test date. This request must be submitted with your registration form and the candidate must provide official documentation of the disability or religious issue. A Special Accommodations request form and documentation will be required to be approved by MCBAP and IC&RC. Special accommodations due to disabilities will be granted based on medical verification of a disability, as recognized under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Any request that does not follow this procedure, may result in an additional fee and rescheduling of the exam. Contact MCBAP for more information.

EXAM AND STUDY GUIDE INFORMATION

Please see www.mcbap.com AND www.internationalcredentialing.org for up-to-date study guides information. You should plan to study for your exam. National norms of practice are not necessarily the same as your local experience, and updated technical knowledge may be required.

Review of the Designated IC&RC Candidate Guide is strongly recommended. Free Candidate Guides are available online for each exam, at www.internationalcredentialing.org > Exam Prep. Each guide provides background information on the exam, information about how exams are scored, detail of exam content, domains and job tasks covered within the exam, resource reference listings, and a short practice exam.

Practice exams for most IC&RC exams are also available through IC&RC. Go to www.internationalcredentialing.org for information and links to sign up for formal practice exams.
